

Since I've started functioning as the Student Representative of Egypt Section, I've been helping many people with their memberships. And especially those, whom I recruited myself, have been throwing a very common question which was, "What is an IEEE Email Alias? Then does that mean I'm getting an IEEE inbox? Then, how would I send emails with my @IEEE.org Email alias?"...

I believe they were right with their question; simply, because they are yet Students with only a mail account or two. They don't get the full meaning of what an IEEE alias is. And how much it is a mess to have like 3 or 4 inboxes to keep updated with. But as well, for all, I thought it's a nice thing if I can send emails with my @IEEE.org alias as the FROM.: it was nice especially if you wanted your IEEE email address to be the common address people can use.

First of all, you have to get yourself a Gmail account. And after you log in to your account, you just follow the steps shown in the figures on the left hand-side.

- Go to Settings upper right side corner of the page
- 2) Go to Accounts tab
- 3) Then press on Add Another Email Address
- 4) Add your email address you want to use from Gmail. i.e. Your @IEEE.org emails alias...
- It will send a verification message to this address you just added -@ieee.org – and you need to follow the link included in the message.
- 6) This way, you'll have the ability to make either your @gmail.com , or @ieee.org aliases be used as your default FROM: address...
